

Society Journal

1. The official publication for the society is River Research and Applications (RRA) published by John Wiley and Sons, Ltd. (the Publisher); the Publisher owns the journal and assumes all financial benefits and risks.
2. The Board of Directors will recommend to the Publisher a named ISRS Editor who is a member of ISRS to represent the society on the Editorial Board of the journal; the ISRS Editor will serve for 3-year renewable terms and need not be a Director. Appointment of an ISRS Editor as a member of the journal Editorial Board requires approval of the Publisher, Editor-in-Chief of RRA, and ISRS Board.
3. The ISRS Editor shall be an ex officio member of the ISRS Board of Directors unless he or she has been separately elected as a Director, in which case this Editor will be a voting member.
4. The ISRS Editor will annually present a formal summary report on the activities of the journal to the Board of Directors.
5. All individual members of ISRS are eligible to subscribe to the journal at a reduced rate for ISRS members established annually by the Publisher, but subscription is not a requirement of ISRS membership.
6. The President will negotiate with the Publisher on behalf of the members of ISRS, but no changes in the contract deemed significant by the Board of Directors will be concluded without approval of the Board.